A Special Note . . .

The breeding, importing and exporting of Shorthorns coupled with a great love and respect for the breed has made the operation of Grant Campbell of Campbell Farms into a business that is truly international in every respect.

The home base of operations is at Moffat, Ontario, where the Campbell Farms and Shorthorn herd were established by the late Duncan Campbell in 1920. A farm holding is also maintained in Scotland, to facilitate the importing of Shorthorns to North America from Scotland and England. Now with the establishment of Bell Rock Farm, it can surely be said that "the sun never sets on Campbell Shorthorns."

Campbell Farms, of course, is a member of the Canadian Shorthorn Breeders' Association. For many years the Campbells have been stockholders and members of the American Shorthorn Breeders' Association. A very few weeks ago Grant Campbell was informed that he had been unanimously elected a member of the Shorthorn Society of Great Britain and Ireland. This is the first time that a breeder who is not a citizen of the British Isles has been afforded the honor of being made a member of this, the oldest of all breed associations.

Grant Campbell is equally well respected in the United States as a cattleman and as a gentleman. My personal experiences with him when I was acting as field man for the Maryland Shorthorn Breeders' Association and when buying cattle from him for Warwick Manor Farms make both Mrs. Rockefeller and myself proud and happy indeed, to be associated with him and his fine family as partners in the Bell Rock Cattle Company enterprise.

Edwin Rockefeller

Welcome to Bell Rock . . .

It will be a great pleasure for my partner Ed Rockefeller and myself, to welcome cattleman and all who are interested in cattle, to Bell Rock Farm on Saturday, March 14th. Since the establishment of the Bell Rock Cattle Co. four months ago, we have had the feeling that we would like to know all the cattlemen and ranchers in the southeastern States, and with that idea in mind, we decided to offer a select group of the kind of Shorthorns we think are best suited to conditions in the southeast. We hope you will come to the sale and spend the day at Bell Rock.

The cattle presented in this sale are almost all directly descended from top quality bulls and females that I have imported from Scotland. You will find that they have size and quality and that they are presented in good thrifty condition. "They are not overfitted." We firmly believe that there is no future among the cattle of the southeastern States for the undersized, bandy-legged type of Shorthorn that is so prevalent in some sections of North America at the present time. We at Bell Rock are firmly convinced that the type of Shorthorn that we will breed and sell will have size, scale and above all—quality.

Each year it is my privilege to attend the annual sales of Shorthorns at Perth, Scotland. Here you find an assembly of the finest Shorthorns in the world, and one is able to meet exporters and breeders from every cattle-producing country in the world. Many of the biggest buyers of Shorthorn bulls at Perth come from countries whose climate is identical to that of the southern United States. For years Shorthorns have been regarded as the breed most suitable to be used for grading up the native cattle and for use in the pedigreed herds in semi-tropical countries. At the A. J. Marshall Dispersal sale last October in Scotland, the largest buyers came from South Africa and Rhodesia where the climate and conditions are very much similar to that of Florida.

I cannot help but add that I envy Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rockefeller the privilege of being the permanent residents at Bell Rock. I can only assure you that Mrs. Campbell, myself and our family hope to be able to spend some time each year in "The Kingdom of the Sun" and as the years go on, we hope that we will be allowed to spend more and more time in the great State of Florida.

Shorthorns Are Adaptable . . .

Shorthorns are adaptable and cross well with other breeds. Many of the bulls from our good breeding herds and Scotlands go to South Africa, South America, Australia and New Zealand where conditions are more severe than most of our own. One of the recent breeds of beef cattle developed in Texas that is growing in popularity carries five-eighths of its blood from Shorthorns.

We are mindful of the need for prepotency in breeding animals.

To transmit consistently the desirable qualities, of sound structure, the best possible utilization of grass and roughage, and rapid growth, with a minimum of waste is not only the need for the individual breeder but is a basic must for the improvement and economy of Florida's great resources as a cattle raising country.

Our experience in the cattle business tells us that to build a lasting annual event, it is necessary to offer the kind of cattle that are most profitable to the buyers.

We were pleased to learn that the first bull we sold in Florida was resold a few weeks later at a fifty per cent profit to our customer.

The bulls in this sale are all of breeding age. The females to be offered are all bred.

We are making and will continue to make every effort to make you a satisfied customer, too.

Grant Campbell
Ed Rockefeller
